Katie,

This is just a heads-up that Headquarters will need to re-engage with our partners (NOAA, Region 10 and Oregon) to advance Oregon's Ag water quality program to get it to a firmer footing for full/final approval. As you probably recall, Oregon had received interim approval back in 2008 (I think it was 2008), but questions about implementation and tracking remain. Roberta Perry engaged with our partners while you were away on detail, but now that she has retired and your detail has concluded, we need you to re-fill this role.

I can brief you more on this when you return to the office. Also, Region 10's Alan Henning may also contact you about some next steps on Ag, as the topic formed the better part of our discussion on a Oregon CZARA conference call yesterday. It will be helpful to review what we said about Oregon's Ag WQ program in the context of CZARA in the attached Response to Public Comments document, which is now part of the public record (at <http://coast.noaa.gov/czm/pollutioncontrol/#Oregon>). See pp. 42-55.

Thanks.
